

Assignment I

① What are the scope of communication skills? Explain.

→ Communication skills cover a wide range of abilities that are essential for the effective exchange of information in various contexts. Whether in an academic, professional, or personal setting, strong communication is key. Here's an overview of its importance:

i) In Academics:

Communication is critical for students to articulate their thoughts, engage with difficult topics, and collaborate with peers. It also helps students present their ideas clearly and seek feedback. Teachers, in turn, use communication to explain concepts and foster an interactive learning environment.

ii) In the workplace:

Clear communication is vital in professional environments. From casual conversations with colleagues to formal meetings and reports, effective communication enables teams to collaborate, make decisions, and work effectively. It fosters a positive work culture and enhances productivity.

ii) In personal relationships:

Good Communication plays a major role in maintaining healthy relationships. It helps misunderstandings, build trusts, and enhances understanding. Whether through verbal, non-verbal, or written means, Communication shapes how we interact with others and strengthens bonds.

Overall, communication is a crucial skill in nearly every aspect of life, helping individuals connect, share ideas and navigate various challenges.

② What do you understand by listening? What are the various types of listening?

→ Listening is more than just hearing - it's about really paying attention, understanding what's being said, and responding thoughtfully. It's an active process where you focus on the speaker and make sure you understand their messages, whether it's spoken or written.

Types of Listening

i) Active listening

This is when you really tune in to what the speaker is saying. You focus, understand, and give feedback to show you're engaged. Active listening can include things like nodding, asking questions, or saying things like "I see" or "can you explain that more?"

ii) Passive Listening

Passive listening happens when you hear something but don't really engage with it. You might listen without responding, which can sometimes lead to missing key details or misunderstandings. For example, hearing a conversation while you're distracted with something else.

iii) Reflective listening

- Reflective listening is when you repeat or summarize what the speaker just said to show you understand. This helps clear up any confusion and makes the speaker feel heard and valued. For example, you might say, "So you're saying that ---" or "It sounds like you're feeling ---".

② What do you understand by speaking? What are the various aspects of speaking?

→ Speaking is the verbal expression of thoughts, ideas, emotions, or information. It involves conveying messages clearly and effectively to an audience, which can be one person or a group.

Aspects of speaking:

i) Pronunciation

- Saying words correctly is really important for getting your message across. If you mispronounce something, it can confuse people and make it harder for them to understand you.

ii) Tone

The way you say something, "your tone" can change how your message is received. A warm, friendly tone makes you sound approachable, while a sharp or harsh tone can put people off or create distance.

iii) Clarity

Speaking clearly and at a comfortable pace is essential for making sure others understand you. Avoid rushing or mumbling, and try to speak at a steady speed.

iv) Structure your speech

- Good speeches or conversations often follow a simple structure. Start with an introduction, talk about your main points in the middle, and finish by summarizing what you've said so the listener walks away with the key message.

④ What is Technical Communication? write down the various Forms of Technical Communication.

→ Technical Communication is a type of communication used to share complex information, often in fields like engineering, science, or IT. It helps people explain technical concepts in a clear and understandable way.

Forms of Technical communication

i) Reports

- These are detailed documents where you present research, findings, or recommendations. They help people understand your analysis or the result of a study.

ii) Memos

- Memos are short, to-the-point messages often used within organization to share quick updates or information internally.

iii) Emails

- Emails are a versatile way to communicate, whether it's formal or informal. They're widely used to send information, ask questions, or make requests.

iv) Presentations

- presentations use both visuals or speech to explain technical topics. They're great for sharing information with an audience in a more interactive or engaging way.

⑤ What are the tools for Effective communication. Explain them.

→ The tools for Effective communication with explanation are as follows:

i) Verbal Tools:

- Language: use simple, clear words suited to the audience.
- Tone: A respectful and positive tone makes communication more effective.
- Pacing & volume: Speak at a moderate pace with proper volume to ensure clarity.

ii) Non-verbal Tools:

- Body language: open posture and appropriate gestures enhance the message.
- Eye contact: Shows attentiveness and builds rapport.
- Facial expression: use expression to match the emotion behind your words.

iii) Listening Tools:

- Active listening: Focus on the speaker and give verbal or non-verbal feedback.
- Clarification: Ask questions to ensure understanding.

iv) Written Tools:

- clarity & precision: write clearly and concisely, with correct grammar
- Formatting: organize text with headings and bullet points for better readability.

v) Visual tools:

- Charts & Diagrams: Simplify complex information.
- Images: Support text with relevant visuals to aid understanding

vi) Paralinguistic Tools:

- pitch & Intonation: Vary tone to emphasize key points.
- Pauses: Use pauses for emphasis and to let the audience process information.

the

end

X SSiannment II

① What is part of speech. It is divided into how many parts?
write down along with an example.

→ Parts of speech can be defined as words that perform different roles in a sentence. The Oxford Learner's Dictionary defines it as "one of the classes into which words are divided according to their grammar, such as noun, pronoun, adjective etc."

• It is divided into eight parts they are

i) Noun

- A noun is a word that names a person, place or thing. It can be something we can see, hear, touch, taste or smell, or even something we just think about.

Example:

• Rey is a good girl.

■ proper noun: It is the name of a particular person or place.

Ex: Rey is a good girl.

■ common noun: The name of any generalised group or community.

Eg: my dog is black, Here dog is common noun.

■ collective noun: It describes a collection of people or things.

Eg: There is so much crowd.

■ Abstract noun: It is the name of quality, action or state.

Eg: Honesty is important.

■ Countable and uncountable noun:

It describes if the name of object or people is countable or not. Ex: Doctor, Sugar.

ii) Pronoun

- A pronoun is a word that takes the place of noun like he, she, or it. to avoid repeating names
Ex: I love novels, and this is my book.

iii) Adjective

- It is the word that describes or stresses the quality of the noun or person.
Ex: Ben is a clever boy.

iv) Verb

- A verb is a word that shows an action or state of being. It tells what someone or something does like run, eat etc
Ex: Sia is singing

■ Transitive verb: That take an object

Ex: She heard a noise

■ Intransitive verb: That does not take an object

Ex: The baby smiled.

v) Adverb

- It is a word that adds meaning or adjective to the verb.
- Ex: She sang beautifully.

vi) preposition

- It is a word that is used with a noun or pronoun to establish a relation between a noun or pronoun concerning something else.
- Ex: She lives in a big city.

vii) Conjunction

- It is a word that is used to join sentences or phrases.
- Ex: Cat and dog are enemies.

viii) Interjection

- It is the word that expresses an exclamation that is a sudden reaction, feeling, or emotion of happiness, despair, anger, etc.

Ex: Hurrah! I won.

② What do you understand by Noun? what are the various types of Noun?

→ The noun is the name of any person, place or thing. The noun "thing" includes all the things which have a name and can be seen, tasted, heard, touched, or smelled by you. It also includes anything that we could think of, but our feelings cannot comprehend.

For example:

- Rey is a good girl. Here Rey is the name of a person; hence, it is a noun.
- Switzerland is breathtaking. Here Switzerland is the name of a place. Hence it is a noun.

■ Proper noun:

- It is the name of a particular person or place.

For example: Rey is a good girl. Here Rey is a proper noun.

■ Common noun:

- The name of any generalised group or community, class or kind. The name shared by a common type of person is a common noun. For example: Rey is a good girl. Here the girl is a common noun. My dog's name is Dobby. Here the dog is a common noun and Dobby proper noun.

■ collective noun:

It describes a collection of people or things. For example:
The crowds in the market suffocate me. The crowd is a collective noun.

■ Abstract noun:

It is the name of quality, action or state.
Example: Honesty is important. Here honesty is an abstract noun.

■ Countable and uncountable noun:

- It describes if the name of objects or people is countable or not.

Example: Doctors are countable, but sugar and milk are uncountable entities.

③ Write down the difference between Transitive verb and intransitive verb. use suitable example to explain.

→ The difference between Transitive and intransitive verb are as follows:

Transitive verb	Intransitive verb
i) A verb that requires a direct object to complete its meaning. The action of the verb is transferred to this object	A verb that does not require a direct object to complete its meaning. The action remains with the subject or verb itself.
ii) Action is transferred to an object	Action does not transfer to any object.
iii) She kicked the ball. It has a direct object (e.g., the ball)	He laughed loudly. No direct object.

CLASS
Date :
Page :
④ What is present tense and its various parts. Write down the structure of each part along with an example.

→ The present tense rules is used to describe the current or present being, situation, or event. It is a form of the verb that defines the events that are currently happening.

Examples: I am going to the office

The concert is going amazing

Simple present tense

- The present indefinite tense rule or present simple tense rule represent the habitual action;

Structure: Sub + V1 + e/es + obj (singular)

Sub + V1 + obj (plural)

Ex: The sun rises in the East.

Present continuous tense

- It shows the action which is happening in the present and will continue for some infinite time

Structure: Sub + is/am/are + V1 + ing + obj

Ex: I am eating pudding

Present perfect tense

- It shows the action that happened in the past and continue into the present.

Structure: Sub + has + V3 + obj (singular)

Sub + have + V3 + obj (plural)

present perfect continuous tense

- It shows the action that started in the past and has continued until the current instant.

Structure: Sub + has been + V₁ + ing + obj (singular)
Sub + have been + V₁ + ing + obj (plural)

Ex: I have been cleaning regularly since Monday.

⑤ write down the steps to convert active voice into passive voice.

→ The steps to convert active voice into passive voice are as follows:

i) Identify whether the verb in the sentence is transitive or intransitive

ii) only transitive verb take objects and can be written in passive voice

iii) Identify the subject, the verb and the object in a sentence

iv) Interchange the place of the subject and the object.

v) Identify the tense of the verb and use the suitable 'be' form and V₃ (past participle) in the passive voice.

vi) we use prepositions like by, written or to in passive voice

vii) when there are two objects in a sentence, two passive sentences can be written with two objects.

viii) All perfect continuous tenses and future continuous tenses cannot be changed into passive voice.

ix) we don't generally mention by the agent at the end of the sentence in the passive voice:

- when the agent is unknown, (likesomebody, nobody etc),
- when the agent is easy to understand, (like police, court, etc)
- when the agent is unimportant.

x) All the modal verbs

(can, could, shall, should, will, would, must, have to, had to, has to, need to, ought to) take BE + past participle form in passive voice

The

end

1) What do you mean by word formation? How word is formed?

→ Word formation refers to the process of creating new words or modifying existing ones. In English, words are often formed by adding prefixes or suffixes, or through compounding and blending.

- Prefix:

A group of letters added at the beginning of a word to change its meanings. Example: un- (unhappy), re- (replay), pre- (preheart).

- Suffix:

A group of letters added at the end of a word to change its meaning or grammatical function. Example: -ly (kick → kicking), -ness (happy → happiness)

- Compounding:

Combining two or more words to form a new word.
Example: notebook, sunlight, teacup

- Blending:

Merging parts of two words to create a new word.

Example: brunch (breakfast + lunch), smog (smoke + fog)

2) What are Synonyms and Antonyms? Write down 10 words along with its Synonyms and antonyms.

→ Synonyms are words that have similar meanings, while antonyms are words with opposite meanings.

The 10 words along with Synonyms and antonyms are as follows:

Words	Synonyms	Antonyms
Happy	joyful, content, pleased, cheerful, elated	Sad, unhappy, gloomy, sorrowful
Big	large, huge, gigantic, massive	Small, tiny, little, compact
Beautiful	pretty, attractive, lovely, gorgeous	ugly, unattractive, plain, hideous
Brave	fearless, bold, heroic, courageous	cowardly, fearful, afraid, scared
Smart	Intelligent, clever, bright, wise	stupid, dull, foolish, unintelligent
Fast	Quick, speedy, swift, rapid	slow, delayed, gradual, sluggish cold	chilly, frosty, icy, cool, freezing	Hot, warm, heated, scorching, fiery strong	powerful, robust, tough, muscular	weak, frail, fragile, delicate
Quiet	silent, calm, peaceful, serene	Noisy, loud, rowdy, clamorous
Angry	furious, enraged, irate, mad	calm, peaceful, serene, tranquil ③ What is one word substitute. Write down 10 examples.

→ One-word Substitute are single words that can replace longer phrases or expressions. Learning these can make writing more concise and precise.

Examples:-

A person who loves books → Bibliophile

A place where animals are kept → Zoo

A person who cannot read or write → Illiterate

A government by the people → Democracy

The study of human societies → Anthropology

A remedy for all diseases → Panacea

A life story written by oneself → Autobiography

A person who does not believe in God → Atheist

One who loves his country → Patriot

A person who looks on the bright side of things → Optimist.

④ Write down 10 words which are often confused.

→ Some words in English sound or look similar but have different meanings. It's essential to understand and differentiate between them.

10 words are listed below:

Accept VS Except → Accept : to receive, Except : to exclude

Affect VS Effect → Affect : to influence, Effect : result

Advice VS Advise → Advice : suggestion, Advise : to suggest

Complement VS Compliment → complement : something that completes compliment : praise

Allusion VS Illusion → Allusion : indirect reference, Illusion : false perception

Stationary VS Stationery → Stationary : not moving, Stationery : writing material.

Principal VS Principle → Principal : head of school, principle : fundamental principle

Desert VS Dessert → Desert : dry land, Dessert : sweet food

Elicit VS Illicit → Elicit : to draw out, Illicit : illegal

Loose VS Lose → Loose : not tight, Lose : to misplace

Page :

Date :

⑤ What is phrasal verb? Write down at least 8 examples:

→ Phrasal verbs are verbs combined with prepositions or adverbs that create a new meaning.

Examples:

Look up → To search for information

Give up → To stop trying

Get along → To have a friendly relationship

Bring up → To raise a topic or a child.

Call off → To cancel

Put off → To postpone

Run off → To meet someone unexpectedly

Turn down → To reject an offer

Work out → To exercise or solve a problem.

Page :

Date :

Assignment X

IV

1) What is phonetic sound? Explain.

→ Phonetic sounds are the building blocks of spoken language. They can be classified into two main categories:

- Vowels: These sounds are produced without any significant blockage of airflow. In English, the vowels sounds include /a/, /e/, /i/, /o/, /u/, and can vary in length and quality.
- Consonants: These sounds are created by obstructing airflow in some way, using the tongue, lips, or teeth. For example, the /t/ sound is made by placing the tongue against the upper teeth and releasing air.

② Differentiate between Rhythm and intonation.

→ The differences are as follows:

Rhythm	Intonation
• In speech it refers to the pattern of sounds in spoken language, created by alternating stressed and unstressed syllables. This natural cadence makes speech flow smoothly and keeps the listener engaged.	• It involves the rise and fall of pitch while speaking. It serves several functions. Questions often have a rising intonation at the end, indicating uncertainty or inquiry.
• Example: "I would like to order a pizza"	• Example: "Are you coming?" "I am coming."

③ What is interpersonal communication? what are the key skills in interpersonal communication.

→ Interpersonal communication is the process of exchanging information, ideas and feelings between people. It is characterized by the following components.

- Verbal communication: This includes spoken or written language. Clarity and choice of words are vital for effective verbal communication.
- Non-verbal communication: Body language, facial expressions, eye-contact, and gestures play a crucial role in conveying meaning and emotions.

* Key Skills

- Active Listening: This involves fully concentrating on what the other person is saying, rather than just passively hearing their words.
- Empathy: Understanding and sharing the feeling of another person is essential for building rapport and trust.
- Feedback: Providing constructive feedback helps clarify understanding and promotes open dialogue.

Q) What do you understand by oral presentation? What are the key components of successful oral presentation?

→ An oral presentation is a formal talk given to an audience, often supported by visual aids like slides. Effective presentations require careful planning and delivery.

Key Components:

- Content Organization:

Structure your presentation with a clear introduction, body, and conclusion. Start with an engaging opening statement, present main points and summarize.

- Engagement Techniques: Use eye contact, gestures, and questions to connect with your audience.

- Visual Aids:

Utilize slides, charts, or videos to enhance understanding.

- Practice and Rehearsal

Familiarity with your material will boost confidence and help you deliver smoothly. Practicing in front of others can also provide valuable feedback.

⑤ What are the difference between Negotiation and persuasion?

→ The difference between are as:

Negotiation	Persuasion
- It is a dialogue betwⁿ two or more parties aimed at reaching an agreement - It involves understanding different perspectives, making compromise, and finding common ground.	It is the art of convincing someone to accept your viewpoint or take action - Effective persuasion relies on several key techniques.
• key strategies i) preparation ii) Active listening iii) compromise	- key techniques i) Building credibility ii) Emotional Appeal iii) Logical Argumentation.

Page :

Date :

Assignment +

A

① What is a job application? Write down an application to TCS for software developer job.

→ A job application is a formal request for employment submitted to an organization.

Sandip university

Madhubani, Bihar, 847325

daykaushal456@gmail.com

7739438755

2025/01/07

The Hiring manager

Tata consultancy service (TCS)

Delhi

Karol Bagh, Delhi

Dear Hiring manager,

I am writing to express my interest in the software developer position at Tata consultancy services (TCS). With a strong foundation in software development and a passion for building languages and experience.

Key achievements include developing scalable applications improving efficiency by [x.%], collaborating on cross-functional projects, and earning certifications like web development. TCS's commitment to innovation and sustainability inspires me, and I'm eager to contribute to your impactful initiatives.

I have attached my resume for your review and welcome the opportunity to discuss how my skills align with TCS's goals.

Thank you for considering my application

Sincerely,

Kaushal Kumar Ray

2) What do you understand by Memos? Describe its structure

→ A memo is an informal document used within an organization to communicate policies, procedure, or other important information.

Structure

- Header: Includes TO, From, Date and Subject lines.
- Body: Start with a clear info and purpose of memo.
- Conclusion: Final line to conclude all the details and suggestions.

Format:

TO: [Audience]

From: [person and /or Department]

Date: [Date sent]

Subject: []

opening - [Get to the point in the opening paragraph. keep things simple and short.]

Summary - [summarize any contextual info.]

conclusion: [End with a call to action.]

③ What are minutes? Write down its structure. Write minutes of a meeting on any topic.

→ Minutes are official records of a meeting, documenting what was discussed and decided.

Structure:

- Heading: Include the title of the meeting, date, time, and attendees.
- Call to order: Note when the meeting started.
- Approval of previous minutes: mention if the last meeting's minutes were approved.
- Discussion points: Summarize key discussions, decisions made, and actions assigned to individuals.
- Adjournment: Note when the meeting ended.

⇒ Minutes

AI Integration

Date and Time: 07/01/2025: 1:00 PM

Venue: Conference Room 2A

Requested by: John Smit (CEO)

Meeting Attendees

- Raju Kumar (HR Manager)
- Kaushal Kumar Raj (AI Project Lead)
- Alex Brown (IT Support)

Agenda

- Benefits and challenges
- Training and support
- AI Policy and Ethical consideration

Discussion

- Automation, decision-making
- Proper engagement and knowledge
- Privacy, security, AI Ethics

Action items

- proper guidance and implementation after the meeting
- Every day report have to be submitted on this

Next meeting

February 5, 2025

Additional Notes

- to assess progress and adjust plans as necessary

4 (a) What is a notice? How to write a notice. Suppose you are an admin of a particular organization. Write a notice to tell all the employees regarding 2 days holiday on the occasion of Deepawali and Chhath Puja.

⇒ A notice is a formal announcement intended to inform employees or stakeholders about specific information, such as events, changes in policies, or deadlines.

Structure:

- Title: Clearly state "Notice" at the top.
- Date: Include the date of the notice.
- Body: Clearly state the purpose of the notice.
- Contact information: Provide details of whom to contact for questions or clarifications.

⇒ Notice

XYZ Company
Notice

01/11/2024

Notice for Holiday for Deepawali and Chhath Puja

Dear Employees

We are delighted to announce a 2-day holiday for Deepawali and Chhath Puja, from 01/11/2024 to 02/11/2024. Regular office operations will resume on 03/11/2024.

Page :

Date :

Wishing you joyful celebrations and a prosperous festive season with your loved ones!

Best regards,

Kaushal Kumar Ray

HR Manager

XYZ Company.

⑤ What is Blog writing? Write down the steps to start a Blog.

→ It involves creating engaging, informative, and relevant content for an online audience. Blogs can cover a wide range of topics and serve various purposes, from personal opinions to professional advice.

Steps:-

- Title: A catchy, descriptive title that draws readers in.
- Introduction: Start with an engaging hook to capture attention, briefly outline what the blog will cover.
- Body: Break the content into sections with headings. Use short paragraphs, bullet points and visuals to enhance readability, provide valuable insights, tips or personal stories.
- Conclusion: Summarize the key points and invite reader engagement (e.g. ask a question or encourage comments).
- Call to Action: Prompt readers to take a specific action, such as subscribing, sharing, or exploring related content.